

Kindergarten
Student Profile
Social Studies

By June, in Social Studies, a kindergarten student should be able to ask questions, share information and discuss ideas about the past. He or she should be able to understand that the first component in the concept of chronology is to place information in sequential order. To know that people belong to different groups and live in different settings around the world and that information can be found on a map or globe or via GoogleEarth. As a group, they are able to participate in making decisions using democratic traditions. They are beginning to understand ownership as a component of economics and can discuss how purchases can be made to meet wants and needs.
